Promote the planting of Trees in Ireland.

A.D. 1884.

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

1. This Act may be cited as the Trees Planting (Ireland) Act, Short title. 1884.

2. From and after the passing of this Act tenants of lands for statutory terms, and subject to statutory conditions under the Land Law (Ireland) Act, 1881, shall be entitled to claim and exercise the rights and privileges conferred by the first section of the Statute passed in the Parliament of Ireland in the fifth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act for encouraging the planting of Timber Trees," in the same manner as if they had been such tenants for lives renewable for ever, as are in the said section of the said last-mentioned Act mentioned or referred to in reference to all such timber trees or woods as shall be planted by such tenants from and after the passing of this Act.

Extension of 5 Geo. III.
c. 17.

3. For the purposes of this Act all such timber trees and woods shall nevertheless, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been so planted by the inheritors of the said lands, unless such tenants shall fulfil the conditions specified, and carry out the several proceedings set forth in the third section of the said last-mentioned Act.

Timber trees to be deemed to have been planted by the inher-itors.

And for the purposes aforesaid the provisions of the said section shall apply to and be in force in relation to such timber trees and woods as if the same had been planted pursuant to the enabling provisions of the said Act.
